

Dulaty University in the Times Higher Education Impact Rankings 2025!

For the first time in history, the M. Kh. Dulaty Taraz University has entered one of the world's most influential rankings — the Times Higher Education (THE) Impact Rankings 2025, which evaluates universities' contributions to achieving the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

This is not just a ranking — it is an acknowledgment of the university's real impact on society, the economy, the environment, and a sustainable future. Among more than 2 526 universities from 130 countries and regions worldwide, Dulaty University has confidently made its mark on the international stage.

Dulaty University's positions in the Impact Rankings 2025:

Overall Ranking: 1501+

SDG 4 – Quality Education: 1501+

SDG 8 – Decent Work and Economic Growth: 1001+

SDG 11 – Sustainable Cities and Communities: 801–1000

SDG 16 – Peace, Justice, and Strong Institutions: 1001+

SDG 17 – Partnerships for the Goals: 1501+

Why this achievement is truly significant:

1. International Recognition

THE Impact Rankings — are a key indicator that the university meets global standards of sustainable development. This is important for students, researchers, partners, and the entire region.

2. A University with a Social Mission

We are actively involved in addressing contemporary challenges — ensuring access to education, creating equal opportunities, fostering urban development, and strengthening civic institutions.

3. Opening Global Opportunities

Participation in THE Rankings opens doors to international cooperation, academic and scientific alliances, grant programs, and further global recognition of the university.

4. Moving Forward

This achievement is just the beginning. We will continue to improve our performance, develop sustainable educational practices, and enhance our contribution to the region and the country.

Key Insights from the University Impact Rankings 2025:

Western Sydney University (Australia) — №1 overall for the fourth consecutive year

Universitas Airlangga (Indonesia) — the most sustainable from developing countries (9th place)

Asian universities make up over 50% of the rankings, with 10 out of 17 SDG categories led by universities from Asia

Universities from 8 new countries, including Botswana, Estonia, the Maldives, Senegal, and others, debuted in the rankings

The ranking focuses on environmental sustainability, social inclusion, economic growth, and international partnerships

For more details, refer to the digital Impact Rankings 2025 report, which includes tables, analytical charts, and interviews with university leaders.

What contributes to Dulyaty University's success:

Modern educational programs

Socially-oriented projects

Applied scientific research

Digitalization, openness, and renewal of teaching approaches

We are proud of this achievement and grateful to everyone who contributes their efforts, ideas, and energy to the university's development!

We continue our journey toward growth — with an international vision, a focus on sustainability, and respect for every student, faculty member, and partner